AMCO GIFFEN

AmcoGiffen are known for their construction and engineering service which they provide nationwide, but they also have a firm belief in ensuring economic, social and environmental benefits to stakeholders and the communities that their works are based. Their Social Value Strategy is a clear indication of their investment into providing sustainable futures, and having worked with them since 2019, its been a pleasure to see their achievements.

What did Go Green do?

Amongst other suppliers, Go Green joined in on the day by sending two members of staff down to Somerset to help, assisting with volunteering and waste removal for the project. Our team members spent the day moving aggregate and building living wall banks around the edge of a pond for new plants to grow.

End Goal

Once the landscaping was complete by everyone on the day, it left the space ready for the next phase in which the garden was planted with pollinator plants and finished off with plant beds for the school to grow their own vegetables. AmcoGiffen's engineering

Manager said of the project, "This project has benefited from over 500 hours of community support as well as generous donations from key suppliers without whom we couldn't achieve this fantastic outcome."
